Affiant, Detective Rod Gentry, a uniformed member of the Warrensburg Police Department, upon my oath, and under penalty of perjury, states as follows:

1. I have probable cause to believe that TRISTAN JOSHUA ARAGON, committed one or more criminal offenses.

2. The facts supporting this belief are as follows:

On 05-05-2026, At 1413 hours, officers of the Warrensburg, Missouri Police Department were dispatched to the police station to contact citizens needing to file a report about being victims of Passing Bad Checks and Stealing by Deceit.

Upon arrival, officers contacted [redacted] who would become the initial reporting parties and victims in what would become a much larger investigation with numerous other victims and witnesses.

[redacted] and [redacted] advised they are the owners of Magnolia Mercantile that was currently under a complete renovation at 313-315 N. Holden St., Warrensburg, Johnson County, Missouri. The actual building located at 313-315 N. Holden St. was purchased by [redacted] and [redacted] under an LLC that was created by [redacted] and [redacted] individual LLC's.

Once the purchase of the 313-315 N. Holden St. was complete, a major renovation project began. The project was completely funded by [redacted] exclusively. Based on the recommendation from [redacted] hired Tristan Aragon, owner of TRAD Co[redacted]C. of [redacted] Warrensburg, Johnson County, Missouri to conduct the renovation of 313-315 N. Holden St. [redacted] was currently utilizing Tristan Aragon and TRAD Construction for various other jobs within her real estate business.

[redacted] and [redacted] agreed to the project quote provided to them by Tristan Aragon of TRAD Construction in the amount of $303,030.00 issued to Magnolia Mercantile 313-315 N. Holden St., Warrensburg, Johnson County, Missouri on 12-03-2025. [redacted] and [redacted] detailed the stealing of $231,751.87 from them that was dispersed to TRAD Construction LLC by 14 different checks dating from 12-12-2025 through 04-29-2026. [redacted] and [redacted] said the checks were to cover necessary supplies, labor, subcontractors, appliances, and deposits for the construction project at 313-315 N. Holden St. After hiring Tristan Aragon and TRAD Construction, [redacted] and [redacted] became concerned about the lack of production and quality of work being performed, and constant pressure from Tristan Aragon for additional funds.

In late April to early May of 2026, [redacted] and [redacted] discovered Tristan Aragon had not ordered supplies for the project nor had he been paying vendors and subcontractors as he had been reporting to them in provided documentation and statements. The spending reports Tristan Aragon provided to [redacted] and [redacted] were fraudulently claiming he had paid thousands of dollars of [redacted] and [redacted] money to electric, HVAC, and plumbing vendors/contractors as deposits for work to be done at the 313-315 N. Holden St. project. [redacted] and [redacted] discovered contractors for the job had not been paid by Tristan Aragon and TRAD Construction with the funds given to him. [redacted] and [redacted] would later discover Trisan Aragon was not paying his laborers working at the job site as reported, some were often paid with checks by Tristan Aragon and TRAD Construction that were returned to them as "Not Sufficient Funds". [redacted] and [redacted] noticed many deficiencies with Tristan Aragon's work and his constant lies about the jobs progress, supplies that he claimed to have ordered, and pressuring them for additional money that he was paid by them and not using for the job. [redacted] and [redacted] also discovered there was never a building permit issued to Tristan Aragon and TRAD Construction LLC. by the City of Warrensburg, Missouri to conduct any work beyond basic tear out and demolition. They also discovered he never obtained a structural engineer or architectural engineer to lawfully construct and certify plans to conduct the construction he was being paid for, even though he was telling them he did, and was collecting money from them. [redacted] and [redacted] discovered Tristan Aragon was lying to them about contractors needing money to begin jobs that were never asked for by the contractors. Aragon had at one point collected thousands of dollars for windows he claimed to have ordered from a local contractor. Investigators later discovered the local contractor was never hired to work on [redacted] and [redacted] project and never requested any money from Tristan Aragon for windows.

On 05-08-2026, [redacted] and [redacted] had a meeting with Tristan Aragon and confronted him about his deceptive lies and lack of work at the 313-315 N. Holden St. project. Tristan Aragon was terminated from the 313-315 N. Holden St. job. Tristan Aragon told [redacted] and [redacted] he was a victim of employee time theft, attempting to pass the blame onto his laborers as a reason for misuse of their monies paid to his company. This would later be proven false by investigators who learned Tristan Aragon was not paying many of his employees, and when he did attempt to pay them with check, they would often be returned as "Not Sufficient Funds". [redacted] and [redacted] told Tristan Aragon he could retain approximately $25,000 dollars of the money he had been paid for what little work he had done but would need to be reimbursed with the remaining balance of the $231,751.87 he had been paid. Tristan Aragon told [redacted] and [redacted] he would cash out his retirement accounts with T-Mobile and Apple along with an annuity he possessed to repay them, however that never happened. On 05-11-2026, Tristan Aragon promised [redacted] he would deliver materials for the job that was paid for with her money. That also never happened. On 05-15-2026, Tristan Aragon told [redacted] and [redacted] he would bring them $40,000 of their money, which also never happened. [redacted] and [redacted] stated Tristan Aragon stopped responding to communications after failing to deliver the promised monies and supplies. (1X Stealing by Deceit).

[redacted] advised she is [redacted] of The Next Door Agents located at 319 N. Holden St. Warrensburg, Johnson County, Missouri. [redacted] stated she and her husband, [redacted], also hired Tristan Aragon to conduct a remodel of their property located at 319 N. Holden St. Warrensburg. The [redacted] were provided a Quote from Tristan Aragon, owner of TRAD Construction on 01-29-2026. The quote for the remodel project was $111,540.00. [redacted] agreed to the quote and hired Tristan Aragon and TRAD Construction to complete the renovation. On 03-25-2026, Tristan Aragon and TRAD Construction was given a check from [redacted] for $25,655.00 that had a memo note of "23% down 319 N. Holden" written in its lower left corner. On 04-07-2026, [redacted] paid a second check to Tristan Aragon and TRAD Construction for $15,572.00 that had a memo note of "HVAC Office" written in its lower left corner. On 04-14-2026, [redacted] sat with Tristan Aragon at her office and picked out numerous appliances and fixtures on Lowe's website and placed them into the shopping cart of Tristan Aragon's Lowes account. The total for the selected appliances and fixtures placed in the shopping cart totaled $23,897.66. Tristan Aragon told [redacted] he needed payment for the items she selected to complete the order. At that time, [redacted] wrote a check for $23,897.66 to TRAD Construction noting Appliances/fixtures in the memo portion of the check and gave it to Tristan Aragon. Over the next few weeks, [redacted] began noticing the workmanship by TRAD Construction was subpar. They also became aware Tristan Aragon had not been paying subcontractors for their work with the funds he had collected from them, nor did he order the $23,897.66 of appliances from Lowes after he collected the funds to do so from [redacted] was also made aware of the fact Tristan Aragon did not use funds from a check she had written to TRAD Construction in the amount of $15,572.00 for an HVAC installation that was to be completed by Fox Heating and Cooling LLC of Warrenburg, Missouri as he said he had done. The total paid to Tristan Aragon of TRAD Construction for work not performed under deceit is $65,124.66.

These discoveries of Stealing by Deceit from the [redacted] by Tristan Aragon of TRAD construction resulted in Tristan being terminated from the 319 N. Holden St. project on the same day as he was terminated by [redacted] and [redacted] from the 313-315 N. Holden St. project, for the same type of stealing by deceit. (1X Stealing by Deceit).

On 05-19-2026, investigators from the Warrensburg, Missouri Police Department arrested Tristan Aragon at his home locate[redacted] Warrensburg, Johnson County, Missouri for Passing Bad Checks and Stealing by Deceit. During a post Miranda interview, Tristan Aragon acknowledged being a contractor for the projects at 313-315 N. Holden St. and 319 N. Holden St. Tristan Aragon told investigators he was having financial problems because [redacted] were consistently late with their payments for the 313-315 N. Holden St. project to him. Tristan Aragon described the work he completed at the 313-315 N. Holden St. job as scraping and painting walls, sanding floors, minor sheet-rocking, and framing in a wall. Tristan Aragon said he had also cut a trench in the floors cement so he could run plumbing before having Anchor Plumbing complete additional work. Tristan Aragon also described cutting out an 8-inch-thick mezzanine that was about 10' by 14' in a support wall which connected 313 to 315 N. Holden St. before paying a contractor $12,000 to complete it. He also said he cut out a couple of windows in the building.

Tristan Aragon told investigators he was approximately six months behind on his home mortgage and his vehicles were in repossession status. During the interview, Tristan Aragon admitted to writing a bad check to [redacted] and never paying [redacted] for work they had completed. Investigators asked Tristan Aragon if he knew it was illegal to write bad checks. Tristan Aragon told them he knew it was illegal but believed his funds would be made available when the checks were presented for payment at banks. Tristan Aragon told investigators he had approximately $40,000 in credit card debt and could only immediately access $180 dollars, if needed.

Tristan Aragon was confronted with his pattern of requesting money for specific purposes, receiving checks with memo lines indicating those purposes, and then using the funds for personal expenses and general business operations, rather than the stated purposes. Tristan Aragon acknowledged this occurred but maintained he was attempting to keep the business operational and complete the contracted work. He stated he never intended to defraud anyone and was trying to manage overwhelming financial difficulties. Tristan Aragon wrote a statement to investigators acknowledging he made mistakes and got over his head financially. Tristan Aragon wrote that he attempted to complete the work despite inadequate funding and poor business decisions. He stated he attempted to absorb cost overruns rather than renegotiating the contracts and acknowledged making critical mistakes by not being transparent about cost overruns and by using funds designated for specific purposes to cover general business expenses and personal bills. Tristan Aragon showed investigators a series of text messages with communication between himself, [redacted] He also displayed texts about payments made to employees. Tristan Aragon's phone was seized as evidence until a search warrant could be obtained to examine it further.

Tristan Aragon was asked about telling [redacted] he would cash out his retirement accounts with T-Mobile and Apple along with an annuity he possessed to repay them. Tristan Aragon admitted the accounts and annuity did not exist and he lied to them. Aragon also admitted he did not order the $23,897.66 worth of appliances that [redacted] paid for on 04-14-2026. Upon completion of the interview, Tristan Aragon was booked and released for charges of Passing Bad Checks and Stealing by Deceit.

During Tristan Aragon's custodial interview, the police department received two additional calls for service from citizens who were calling to report being given bad checks from Tristan Aragon.

A search warrant was obtained on 05-20-2026 for Tristan Aragon's phone. During the search, investigators noticed numerous text messages between individuals and Tristan Aragon pertaining to Tristan Aragon not paying monies owed to those individuals. Photographs were taken of those messages and attached to the file.

An investigative subpoena was obtained on 07-06-2026 for Tristan Aragon's Lowes Account for the purpose of verifying if he purchased the $23,897.66 dollars' worth of items he was paid to Tristan Aragon, by [redacted] on 04-14-2026. Lowe's sent investigators a copy of Aragon's Lowes purchases from 05-01-2025 through 07-01-2026. The documents proved Tristan Aragon took the money from [redacted] and never ordered her items, as he told her he did.

During the investigation, additional victims of Tristan Aragon and TRAD Construction were discovered. Many of those victims are residents of Johnson County, Missouri with two being from Jackson County, Missouri and another from Cass County, Missouri.
